VI. Debriefing, next steps for policies and practices work groups based on school committee feedback: A) Dan Fitzgerald reported on the Policies subcommittee presentation to the school committee 3/9 and Practices subcommittee presentation on 3/29. Both subcommittees described the Tiered approach recommendations presented to the school committee as well as their feedback about intentional language for crafting final recommendations. Dan reminded the School Committee that the recommendations are data-driven, through the lens of learners, using accessible definitions etc. Subcommittee will craft drafts and will bring back to main Anti-Racism Task Force to review and then finalize for the school committee, encouraging participation by all members including the community. The sustainability of these recommendations will require continued participation of school committee and public and that there will be difficult work and tiers that will be easy to implement while others will require long -term investment
B) Practices subcommittee presented to the school committee on 3/23. Their recommendations followed the same format in tiers, and included things like recommendation of a Tribal liaison role, curricula input from students/community etc. The feedback was favorable for tiered structure and some items were seen as especially easy to implement or obvious e.g., School Committee chair looking at policy for cultural celebration attire for graduation immediately.

C) Curriculum Subcommittee: Jess Avizinis explained that they will be presenting their recommendations to the school committee the following week but Gina let them know that the presentation would need to be pushed to 5/11 to accommodate other business. The Curriculum subcommittee intends to use the same format and tiered recommendations to the School Committee when they present.

*Joe Reddish motioned to move back to agenda item III seconded by Jess Avizinis to unanimous approval

VII. District School Committee Approval and posting On website: – Several terms were suggested by Anti-Racism Task Force members as well as members of the public to be posted on the school district website if approved by the School Committee. The work to produce a comprehensive list to recommend to the school committee will be performed according to the Open Meetings Act as is all business by the Anti-Racism Task Force.

VIII. Public Comment on Agenda Items: School Committee has an agenda item for "public comments not on the agenda" if it's not on the agenda, the task force members can't discuss. For this item we can discuss public comment on these agenda items in the posted agenda. Wendy Fenner-Aubin from Exeter but grew up in Charlestown social worker in Providence/Pawtucket,/Central Falls asked about a Health Equity Zone in the area. It was clarified that per OMA, anyone from any town allowed to join. Public means public. Clifford Heil: A lot of discourse about this work in the public but lots of community members that are happy this work is going on. Nicole Weeks: asked about the definition of "slander" as well as "harassment/target" --Gina Picard reported that we do have those definitions in our Chariho policies/handbook so if we update it should be updated there as well.

IX. Future Agenda Items: Suggestion to invite Organizational Content Expert to see what they can provide to the task force around data-driven and student-centered perspective approach. Non-profit sector in this space (non-violence institute, health equity zone, center for reconciliation) could help. Suggestion to add agenda item about public comment not on agenda. Suggest Curriculum team provide update prior to going live to school committee>
